Growing demand for Disability Confident employers

More than 46,000 people have used a new search engine filter giving them a direct line to Disability Confident employers since the tool was introduced 6 months ago, new figures show.

Jobseekers have been able to search for vacancies with Disability Confident employers on the government's Find a Job website since November 2018.

In April 2019 it emerged tens of thousands of prospective employees have taken advantage – evidence that there is growing demand for opportunities with inclusive employers.

Disability Confident is the government's flagship disability employment scheme which supports employers of all sizes to recruit and retain disabled staff & more than 12,000 employers across the country have already signed up, with the number growing steadily every week.

Talent has no boundaries.
Let's get people talking about disability.
