

Valuing Employment Now

JOBS FOR PEOPLE WITH LEARNING DISABILITIES

People with learning disabilities should have the same rights as everybody else.

Employment is a very important part of life.

Many people think that people with learning disabilities can't work because they can't achieve much in life. This is wrong.

We need to change how people think so that many more people with learning disabilities get a job.

People with learning disabilities should expect to get a paid job, just like other people. Otherwise, real equality will not happen.

People who are not disabled don't usually have a choice about getting a paid job.

Getting jobs made easy

The Government is doing things to make it easier for people with learning disabilities to get real jobs.

People with learning disabilities need to believe they can work. They need to expect to work. This is an important part of equal rights.

Find out more at the 'Real Roles' website: www.realroles.co.uk

Valuing Employment Now: real jobs for people with learning disabilities

For further resources please visit www.valuingpeople.gov.uk/venresources

Email venresources@dh.gsi.gov.uk

© Crown copyright 2010

301331f 1p March 10 (Web only)

Produced by COI for the Valuing Employment Now cross-government delivery team, based in the Department of Health.